STORY:

Fifth and sixth day of Paleo Festival in Nyon was highlighted by the musical legends that have performed at the festival in the early years of its existence. Folk singers Malicorne played at the first ever Paleo Festival in 1976 while American singer Joan Baez played at the festival in 1982.

For its last weekend the festival also welcomed Robert Plant, and famous feminine artists such as Véronique Sanson, Christine and the Queens, Patti Smith and her band performing "Horses". They wowed the crowd in honor of celebrating the festival's 40th anniversary.

Paleo, one of Europe biggest open-air music festival, staged in the beautiful setting in the town of Nyon by the Geneva Lake will come to an end on Sunday (July 26) after seven days and seven nights of eclectic concerts.
